

Preceptorship FAQ - Frequently Asked Questions

What happens on the different days of the programme?

The Programme has two half days and three full days of taught/facilitated learning which start after you have completed your Induction. Your study days will run alongside your clinical practice. The following image captures this.

Welcome to your Preceptorship Programme (Half Day - Start of the programme)

This half day focuses on who you are at the beginning of the programme so that you can start to plan your own programme around your needs. We cover what you will need to complete the programme and begin to support you. We include wellbeing information.

Communication and Inclusivity (Full Day)

This full day explores communication and how culture and experience can impact on our individuals' values, beliefs, behaviours and decision making. The day will be a mixture of group activities and sessions.

Together for Improvement (Full Day)

This full day focuses on understanding behaviours and how this can influence our work cultures, as well as seeking out ways to develop and improve quality of practice and care. The day will be a mixture of group activities and sessions.

Human Factors & Simulations (Full Day)

This full day supports you to gain a deeper understanding of technology, systems and processes, safety culture and human error to enhance care and patient safety. The day will be a mixture of simulations and activities so that you can, experience life-like scenarios that are followed by opportunities for learners to reflect within a structured facilitated debrief.

Who am I now (Half Day - Final day of the programme)

This final half day focuses on who you are now at the end of the programme so that you can see how you have developed and explores further training should you now wish to support others as a preceptor. You will also have Preceptor training on this day.

Is there a set order that the days have to be completed?

Day 1: 'Welcome to your Preceptorship' - should be completed first.

The full study days can be completed in any order.

Day 5: 'Who am I now' - should be completed last.

A preceptee is a registered professional who has booked onto the Preceptorship Programme and is completing the content.

Who is a Preceptor?

A Preceptor is your mentor, guide, person you can go to for signposting. They will be the person that helps you in your clinical area to complete the Preceptorship programme.

Who can be a Preceptor and how are they allocated?

Preceptors need to have a minimum of 12 months experience as a registered practitioner. The role of the preceptor is to provide guidance to the preceptee by facilitating the transition into their new role. They should be the same profession as you. You can change your preceptor. Your Preceptor can be allocated by your manager, line manager or you. You can choose who your preceptor is as long as they fulfil the requirements. It may be an experienced colleague in your workplace you get along with.

Do I need to complete the Preceptor Workshop to be a Preceptor?

No - This isn't a mandatory requirement – Though Preceptors should have preferably completed the Preceptor Workshop (if they never went on a Preceptorship Programme) or have completed the training during the Preceptorship Programme.

How often do I need to meet with my preceptor?

You will be expected to meet regularly with them to reflect on your new experiences; discuss your progress and the strategies you need to achieve them. We suggest that a minimum of 3 meetings are needed; at the start, interim and a year in.

Do I get protected time to fulfil the duties of a Preceptor?

Yes – Preceptor duties can be allocated up to 12 hours per year. This is to complete;

- Preceptor workshop
- Preceptee meetings
- Opportunities for self-reflection and development

Can I be a Preceptor if I've not done the Preceptorship Programme?

Yes – as long as you have 12 months post registration experience, up to date with mandatory training and signed off relevant clinical competencies. Ideally they have completed or booked onto the Preceptor Workshop.

Preceptor Workshop – do I get a certificate or CPD time?

Yes – We will issue you a certificate with 7.5 hours face to face CPD time once the requirements of the Preceptor Workshop day have been complete.

Once I have completed the Preceptorship Programme can I become a Preceptor?

Yes - As part of the final day of the programme, we will complete Preceptor training. Becoming a Preceptor means you will be able to further develop your leadership skills and be able to support the development of newly registered staff.

Do I need to do the Preceptor Workshop if I've completed the Preceptorship Programme?
