This leaflet gives information that may help you or your loved one when they are in hospital.

If you suddenly feel unwell, call for help from your ward team.

What is Martha's Rule?

Martha's Rule is a patient safety service for inpatients and their families. You, or your relative or carer can call for advice and help if you/they have concerns about their condition. This service was previously known as 'Call for Concern'.

Who runs the Martha's Rule Service?

Martha's Rule is run by a team of specialist adult critical care nurses who are available 24 hours a day to help support ward staff in the care of very unwell patients. We can offer advice over the telephone and/or come to the ward to review the patient's condition if there is a noticeable change. The team can also discuss with the relevant consultant or team regarding your concerns.

When to contact the Martha's Rule Service

- When there is a significant change in your/the patient's condition and, after discussion with the ward team, your concerns have not been addressed.
- You have ongoing medical concerns after you have spoken to the ward nurses or doctors.

When not to contact the Martha's Rule Service

- Martha's Rule is a patient safety service. It should not be used to report general problems such as issues with bed, room, food or parking.

Please speak to a member of staff, nurse in charge or ask for the ward manager or matron to discuss these issues.

How to contact the Martha's Rule Service

Critical Care Outreach Tel: 07775 821211

- Call directly on the above number.
- Please leave a message and you will be called back as soon as possible.
- Please be aware the team cannot give a call back time as they may be with other patients, however, will call you back as soon as possible.

What we need to know when you call us

- Your name or the name of the patient you are concerned about, contact number.
- The ward you or they are on.
- A brief description of your concerns.

What happens next?

One of the Critical Care Outreach team will take your call. The clinician may help over the telephone or visit the ward to discuss your concerns and contact the relevant team for further advice and support. Consent will be gained from the patient before discussing next steps with the ward team and will then update you as needed.
